Held for Murder.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Ferdinand Kolpein, boatswain of the American ship I. P. Chapman, charged with complicity in the ill-treatment that caused the death of Peter Janssen, was held in default of $5,000 for the grand jury.

Death of Mr. Blaine's Sister.

BALTIMORE, March 3.—Mrs. Eliza Blaine Walker, the only sister of Hon. J. G. Blaine, died in this city early this morning. Her brother, husband and daughters were with her until she died.

The funeral will take place at 11 o'clock to-morrow at the Cathedral, Archbishop Gibbons officiating, assisted by Rev. Father Curtis. After a requiem mass the remains will be taken to Brownsville, Pa., for interment.

BETHEL.

Among the things that agitate the town and which they are called upon to act Monday, are the purchase of Rialto skating rink for a town house, and a road machine for making and repairing roads.

BRIDGTON.

The last half of the present term at Bridgton Academy begins Monday, March 9. There are still ample accommodations, and students coming in at that time will receive every attention.

BIDDEFORD.

Eighteen conversions were reported at the Salvation Army barracks last week.

Five persons were baptized by Rev. A. S. Ladd at the Methodist church on Foss street Sunday morning, and five others were received into the church.

BANGOR.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bangor & Piscataquis Railroad Company will be held in the common council room, City Hall, Wednesday, March 18th, at 10 o'clock. The usual routine of business will be carried out.

CUSHING.

A new post office has been established at South Cushing, and Oliver S. Davis appointed postmaster.

EASTPORT.

A man was sent from Eastport to Machias jail Thursday for breaking windows in a house on the fort. He told the magistrate that the only reason he had for breaking the windows was that he was out of employment and wanted to go to jail.

LUBEC.

Michael Barrett of Lubec, lately deceased, is claimed to have been one hundred and two years of age.

LEWISTON.

A loaded wood team with two horses, driven by David Cain of Lewiston, was crossing the railroad crossing at the Barkerville crossing Friday afternoon, says the Lewiston Journal, just as the freight train was coming down the track in the distance. Both horses managed to slip down, and the driver had just time to get them unharnassed and off the track before the train struck the sled, and sent the wood flying to the four winds.

MONTICELLO.

The dwelling of Mr. Benj. Bailey was burned to the ground with all its contents Thursday morning, Feb. 26th. The fire caught in the roof, and when discovered the roof was just falling in. Mr. Bailey was in the woods at the time, and only a little girl was in the house. It is a hard loss to the family, as they were not insured.

PARIS.

Alvah Hersey of South Paris, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is rapidly recovering, and it is expected that before many weeks he will be seen at his position in the depot.

TOPSHAM.

At the Topsham town meeting it was discovered that instead of having the names of the selectmen and other officers, besides town clerk and moderator on one ballot, they had been printed separately. The citizens decided by a vote of 50 to 15 that the meeting could not go on, and was adjourned for three weeks.

VANCEBORO.

The Vanceboro Wooden Ware Company have received an order for three car loads of clothes pins to go to Australia.

WATERVILLE.

Mr. Ed. Young of Waterville, a Maine Central engineer, has purchased a boat in Brewer which he will fit up as a steamboat and place on alake near Waterville the coming season. It was taken to Waterville on one of the freight trains Monday.

WASHINGTON.

Court Martial Ordered.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The President today ordered a court martial for the trial of Brig. Gen. Hazen on a charge of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline. The court will meet in this city on the 11th of January. Gen. W. S. Hancock will be the president of the court.

Cabinet Gossip.

The Evening Star says that the West has given up all hope of recognition in the cabinet. The best friends of Thurman and McDonald say today that neither has a chance to go in the cabinet. They say they believe, though they regret it, that two men from New York will be among the chosen, and that the administration will at first glance be open to criticism; and that it is made in the interest of the East, while the West is to be ignored. Efforts will be made tonight to change the slate that Mr. Cleveland is said to have decided on, but it is confessed that success in this direction is is not expected. It is believed that Messrs. Bayard, Whitney, Manning, Garland, Lamar and Villas are decided on. Judge Endicott and Gen. McClellan are both here, and the friends of each are opposing the other, and each expects to get the war department. The chances are said to be with Judge Endicott, though the fight that is being made against him in the interest of Gen. McClellan may defeat both, and another be selected, probably Mr. Collins.

Telephone Case Settled.

Commissioner Butterworth of the patent office has rendered his decision in the great telephone interference case of Bell vs. Gray vs. McDonough vs. Voelker and others. The case involved a question of priority of invention of the telephone. The commissioner affirms the findings of the board of examiners, and awards the priority of invention to Alexander Graham Bell in all claims of importance.

Facts and Rumors.

Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, Commissione of Patents, today handed his resignation to Secretary Teller, who accepted it and complimented him upon his energetic administration of office

FROM AUGUSTA.

Concerning the New County Building for Portland.

Bill to Establish a Woman's Reformatory Given a Passage.

(Special to the Press.)

AUGUSTA, Mar. 4.

The bill for establishing a woman's reformatory and calling for an appropriation of $10,000, came up by special assignment in the House. It was discussed by Messrs. Hale, Moore, Heath, Mattocks and others in favor, and Mr. Powers in opposition. The latter thought there was no call for such an institution and intimated that it was in the interests of Cumberland County from the fact that there were 109 female criminals in the jail of that county to 78 in the remaining fifteen counties. Gen. Mattocks and Mr. Hale disclaimed that it was a sectional measure, but was one called for by the philanthropic men and women all over the State. A motion to indefinitely postpone was lost and the bill was given a passage.

The bills relating to registration of apothecaries and physicians' prescriptions were assigned for tomorrow.

Mr. Hale of Portland introduced a bill by leave authorizing the county commissioners of Cumberland to erect a county building. (The full text of the bill will be found in another column.)

The pharmacy bill was taken up and after being amended so as to exempt country stores from its provisions, it was tabled.

Bill providing that collectors of taxes shall not be selectmen of towns called for discussion and was finally tabled and assigned.

48th CONGRESS.

Its Life to Close at Noon To-day—A Resume of Its Work.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—To-morrow at noon the life of the 48th Congress will close. Its sessions have extended over a period of 10 months and 7 days, although its actual working time has been but 234 days, of which 165 days represent the time of the first session and 66 days that of the second session. Practically the work of Congress is now at an end as there remains but to finish up the appropriation bills and dispose of a few odds and ends of legislation so far advanced as to need but little time to complete them. During the sessions there have been introduced in the House 8,286 bills 345 joint resolutions and in the Senate 2,666 bills and 134 joint resolutions.

Of the House bills about 350 have, up to the present writing become laws with the approval of the executive, 5 became laws without his approval, 24 have been defeated, either by a vote of the House, by being laid on the table, rejected outright or consideration indefinitely postponed, and 9 been defeated by adverse reports from the committee; one bill was defeated by the veto of the President and almost 600 which were passed by the House is addition to those already enumerated failed of final action in the Senate. A majority of the remaining bills were not acted on by the committees to which they were referred. Of the House joint resolutions, 45 became laws with the approval of the President and 16 others which passed the House failed of action in the Senate.

Of the legislation introduced in the Senate about 450 bills and 35 joint resolutions have, up to this writing, passed that body, and of these 174 bills and 17 joint resolutions were acted upon finally by the House and became laws with the approval of the President and two bills which passed both Houses became laws without the President's signature. The Senate acted adversely upon 521 of the bills and 18 of the joint resolutions introduced in that body either by indefinite postpoement or by laying on the table.

The following important bills have been sent to the President for his approval and will doubtless be signed by him before adjournment, They may be considered as enacted:

Bill to prohibit importation and emigration of foreigners and aliens under contractors' agreement to perform labor in this country.

To declare for future of lands granted to aid in the construction of the Texas Pacific railroad.

To provide for the erection of a building to contain records of the library and museum of the medical department of the army and to prevent a lawful occupation of public lands.

In accordance with the usual custom, members of the cabinet have placed their resignations in the hands of President Arthur and at the close of business hours today the principal officers of the Post Office Department assembled in the Postmaster General's room to take leave of Mr. Hatton. The retiring head of the department thanked them for their faithful discharge of duty and received from them in return expressions of good will and approval of his administration and business methods.

MIDNIGHT.

At midnight the contention of the appropriation bill is as follows: The legislative bill agreed to accept the provision for clerks to Senators: the sundry civil bill is agreed to except a provision for public buildings; the post-office bill has just been reported to the House with non-concurrence in respect to the so called subsidy clause, and conferees are now at work on the naval bill; the Indian bill only lacks concurrence on the Oklahoma provisions; the fortification and deficiency bills have passed both Houses, but have not yet gone to conference.

The St. Paul, Minn., plough works, three miles from that city, caught fire late last night and will probably be destroyed.

Gov. Sherman of Iowa yesterday suspended Auditor Brown on account of his refusal to account for certain State funds. Brown refuses to surrender his office.

CLOSING HOURS.

How President Arthur Spent His Last Day in the White House.

President-elect Cleveland Arrives in Washington.

The City Given up to Geiety Last Night.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—The White House Building and grounds were crowded with visitors today. The East Room however, was the only one open to sight seers. A policeman guarded the stairway leading to the upper part of the house and allowed to pass only those on official business. The President was kept very busy during the day, signing acts of Congress, and attending to other official matters. The members of the United States Supreme Court headed by Chief Justice Waite, called just before noon and took leave of the President. A meeting of the Cabinet was held at noon and lasted about two hours. All the members were present. The session was devoted to clearing up all official business requiring action during the present administration. During the session a messenger brought in a large, handsome floral cornucopia, across which was laid a beautiful horseshoe formed of rare exotics.

At 2.30 o'clock the President received the members of the diplomatic corps. All the legations were represented, as it seemed as if every diplomat in the city improved the opportunity to take official leave of the President While arrangements were being made for packing and removing the personal effects of the President and family, a large express wagon drove up to the main entrance and deposited a number of trunks, boxes and parcels containing the personal effects of President-elect Cleveland and his Private Secretary. They were taken into the house to be cared for until Mr. Cleveland takes up his residence there. The President's effects will be removed tomorrow. After the President has reviewed the procession to-morrow he will proceed direct to the residence of Secretary Frelinghuysen, whose guest he will be for two or three weeks. His son and daughter will accompany him.

At 7.20 o'clock this morning, when the mists of night still clung around the Baltimore and Potomac Depot, and but few persons were stirring, a special train bearing the President-elect and his party drew up on a side track in the depot. The committee appointed to receive the party did not expect it to arrive before night, and only a few train hands and half a dozen reporters were present. The President-elect was accompanied by his brother, Rev. L. Cleveland, wife and child; his sisters, Mrs. Hoyt and Miss Cleveland; his niece, Miss Mary Hasting; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Manning and Col. Daniel Lamont, wife and two children. After a delay of about ten minutes, Chairman Berret and Mr. Gault of the Inauguration Committee put in an appearance and were introduced to the President-elect. Some twenty minutes were required to secure carriages, and it was ten minutes to eight o'clock before the party disembarked. Meanwhile the news of the arrival of the party had spread, and a crowd gathered around the Pullman car Maranon and stared hard at the President-elect, who bore the scrutiny with equanimity. When the carriages arrived the party alighted and proceeded through the ladies' waiting room to the north entrance, the President-elect leading with Chairman Berret. He wore a blue overcoat and silk hat and did not appear to be at all fatigued by his night journey. Carriages were taken and the party proceeded to the Arlington Hotel, where a hasty toilet was made and breakfast served.

Washington on the eve of inauguration day presents a scene of extraordinary activity, excitement and enthusiasm. Fronts of all the buildings on Pennsylvania Avenue are nearly concealed by flags, shields and festoons of bunting, so that the street is almost literally walled in with tri-colored drapery. The lanterns of street lamp posts have been removed and the gas flames are surrounded by colored globes; electric lights blaze on every corner and along the pavements of the brilliantly illuminated streets under fluttering streamers and banners move crowds of visitors.

Military organizations in full uniform headed by bands and lighted by locomotive headlights, and flanked with torches are constantly passing back and forth through Pennsylvania Avenue and 15th street, on their way to or from the headquarters of the President-elect, and are greeted with cheers as they wheel around corners between throngs of spectators.

Companies of State militia in plain and serviceable blue alternate with picturesque squads of Zouaves in showy red and white, and New York political clubs in long overcoats and silk hats are followed by the Flambeaux club from Topeka, Kansas, dressed in a spectral uniform of unbroken white and carrying peculiar pneumatic torches, into whose hollow shafts they blow at intervals so as to send up high slender tongues of flames. Bands of all kinds are to be heard in every direction, four or five sometimes passing the treasury department together, but in different directions and playing different airs.

Around the Arlington Hotel, where the President-elect is staying, there has been a great throng of people all the evening watching the arriving and departing of troops and listening to serenades which the bands successively play under Mr. Cleveland's windows. The whole city seems, even at this late hour of the evening, to be astir, and presents a holiday appearance which is as striking as it is unusual.

The sub-committee appointed by the inauguration general reception committee to welcome the President-elect to Washington called on him this afternoon. Chairman Hon. R. T. Merrick, after introducing his fellow members expressed a welcome in a few well chosen words and Gobernor Cleveland felicitously returned his acknowledgements. Informal conversation ensued for some little time and the committee then took their leave.

After a call from the citizens' reception committee Mr. Cleveland continued to receive callers until six o'clock in the evening when he dined at the hotel. Among those who called were Mr. Hendricks, Gen. Vilas, Secretary McCulloch, Gen. Farnsworth, Hon. Daniel Manning, Senator Gorman, Senator Garland and Gen. Sheridan and three members of his staff. Mr. Hendricks called about noon and had quite a long talk with Mr. Cleveland. It was after 8 o'clock when Mr. Cleveland appeared in the parlors after dinner, and from that hour until 10, the President-elect continued to receive callers. At 10 o'clock Mr. Cleveland retired. He will leave his hotel to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock for the White House, and from there will be driven to the capital.

Mr. Hendricks received a large number of callers at his rooms in Willard's Hotel. In the evening he was serenaded by several of the visiting organizations.

U. S. SENATORSHIPS.

The Contest in Illinois—Senator Logan's Re-election Said to be Assured.

NEW YORK, March 3.—The Washington correspondent of the Commercial Advertiser says Senator Logan's friends are greatly pleased with news that has been received from Illinois relative to the senatorial struggle. It is now claimed by them that in a day or two, when the Republicans have all their forces present, he will surely be elected. The understanding of the reason for this assurance on the part of Logan's friends is that an agreement has been reached with certain Democrats who will vote to make a quorum, voting of course for some Democrat, or any one but Logan. It makes no difference whom they vote for, so long as the same is recorded and a quorum secured in the joint convention.

XLVIIIth Congress—2d Session

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.

Monday's session of the Senate continued till late into last night. After 2 o'clock the sundry civil bill was read a third time and passed as amended.

Mr. Conger gave notice that to-morrow at as early an hour as practicable he would call up the river and harbor bill.

Mr. Dawes submitted the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill. The report, which was agreed to, discloses a continued disagreement, but owing to the lateness of the hour, 2.05 a. m., Mr. Dawes did not ask for a further conference.

On the motion of Mr. Allison, the Senate, at 2.30, took a recess until 9 o'clock this morning.

The Senate was called to order at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Dawes moved a call of the roll. It showed 25 present, being 14 short of a quorum.

At 9.50 o'clock the Chair declared a quorum present.

Mr. Dawes called up the conference report on the Indian bill. The two Houses, he said, had agreed on the bill so far as all the items properly pertaining to the appropriation bill were concerned. The Senate had struck out all items of general legislation and all items for depredation claims. Upon those, however, the House insisted. Since the bill was passed, Mr. Dawes added, the Senate seemed to have weakened on its position as to general legislation. Some provisions of the Indian appropriation bill were open violations of our treaty obligations as well as unconstitutional.

Mr. Sherman said if the Senate regarded the House legislation as wise, the Senate rules should not interfere with it; if unwise and unsound, the Senate should not recede, no matter what the consequence.

Mr. Plumb said we were confronted with a possibility, to say nothing more, of an extra session of Congress, growing out of the action of the House. The course of that body had shown a magnificent will power of one man to produce such a result, pregnant, as Mr. Plumb believed it to be, with the gravest consequences to the people of the United States. The exceedingly defective form of legislation found in appropriation bills tended to make him (Mr. Plumb) immovably opposed to yielding, so far at least as related to imputed legislation. No more gross confession of legislative incompetency ever had been seen than has been manifested within a stone's throw of the Senate Chamber within 30 days. Bills appropriating millions of dollars had been passed without consideration and then sent to the Senate within two days of the close of the session.

Mr. Plumb characterized the river and harbor lump appropriation as a criminal waste of the people's money.

Mr. Ingalls—By a Democratic Secretary of War.

Mr. Plumb would not give the debate a political turn; but the question was becoming serious, not only as to the present, but the future.

In order to bring the question to a point and get an understanding of the Senate, Mr. Dawes moved, though he said he would vote against his own motion, that the Senate recede as to the provision of the bill relating to legal jurisdiction and procedure in cases of crimes committed by Indians.

The Senate refused to recede.

A message from the House announced disagreement with the Senate on the sundry civil bill.

The Senate, on motion of Mr. Dawes, insisted on its amendment, and the Chair appointed a conference committee.

The hour of 1 having arrived Mr. Conger renewed his motion to adjourn.

Mr. Hale thought the new legislative day would involve delay, owing to the necessary formalities.

The Senate agreed to Mr. Conger's motion and at 1.30 p. m. adjourned to one o'clock of March 3d.

The Senators remaining in their places, the Senate at 4 minutes past one was called to order constructively at one o'clock, prayer was offered and the journal read. Several requests for unanimous consent to dispense with the reading of the journal were met by the uniform response of Mr. Ingalls, "I call for the regular order."

The credentials of Leland Stanford, senator elect from California, and those of J. Y. Eustis, senator elect from Louisiana, were submitted, read and filed.

Mr. Hawley then submitted a verbal report of the work done by the special committee to investigate the steel producing capacity of the United States. Such investigations had not been completed for want of time, and the committee was continued during recess and are required to report next December.

Mr. Hale called up the general deficency bill and its reading was proceeded with.

The matter of Indian conference reports was taken up.

Mr. Dawes moved that the Senate insist on the remaining amendments.

Mr. Manderson moved that the Senate recede as to the amendment, extending the time for payment for Indian lands.

The Senate refused to recede.

Mr. Vest hoped the Senate would agree with the House provision regarding the Oklahoma matter and moved that it recede from its amendments.

The Senate by vote insisted on the amendment and the chair appointed a committee of conference.

Mr. Allison submitted the conference report on the general pension bill, but no action will be taken on it for the present.

Mr. Hale from the committee on appropriations submitted the deficiency bill. He said it ought to be considered as soon as possible in order to go back to the House, and he asked unanimous consent to have the bill at once taken up.

Mr. Conger called attention to the river and harbor bill which he said he had yesterday notified the Senate he would call up today.

Mr. Hale understood that Mr. Conger would antagonize the deficiency bill with the "conjectural" river and harbor bill. He (Mr. Hale) had grave doubts of the possibility of Congress getting through the necessary business without an extra session, and this added amazingly to that doubt. The appropriation committee had done its very best to get bills before the Senate and the Senate must now take the responsibility of the situation from this time till noon to-morrow.

The House provision abolishing the office of the 10th census was stricken out.

Mr. Miller of New York offered an amendment appropriating $100,000 to complete the pedestal of the Statute of Liberty Enlightening the World, to be erected on Bedloe's Island, New York harbor. Adopted.

Amendments were adopted increasing the appropriations for compensation of postmasters whose salaries have been readjusted under the act of 1883 to $278,481, an increase of $137,983.

The bill was then passed, and the fortification bill taken up.

An amendment was adopted appropriating $200,000 for the purchase of machine guns.

The committee's amendments were adopted and the bill was then passed.

At 7.20 the Senate went into executive session and at 7.32 took a recess until 9.

Evening Session.

On motion of Mr. Conger, the river and harbor bill was taken up. (As passed by the House it appropriates $5,000,000 in gross, and as proposed by the Senate committee to be amended it appropriates $10,000,000.)

Mr. Conger defended the increase.

Mr. Frye said there was no excuse that could be offered to the country for a lump sum river and harbor bill. There had been three months in which to prepare a proper bill. He (Mr. Frye) favored a river and harbor bill, but he wanted it to be a proper bill. It seemed to him that the Senate owed a duty to itself, and where, as in this case, nothing could suffer by the failure of the bill, the Senate ought not to pass the bill appropriating millions of dollars, and to which only a couple of hours consideration could be given, and which had not received 30 minutes' consideration in the House.

Pending debate, Mr. Pendleton offered the following resolution, and for which he asked immediate consideration:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate are due and are hereby tendered to Hon. Geo. F. Edmunds, Senator from Vermont, for the courteous, impartial and able manner in which he has presided over its deliberations and fulfilled the duty of President pro tempore.

The resolution was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. Coke then addressed the Senate on the river and harbor bill. There was nothing to be done, he said, but to appropriate the sum in solido and trust to the discretion of the Secretary of War.

Mr. Dawes submitted a new conference report on the Indian appropriation bill. The only remaining point of difference was the provision relating to the Oklahama lands. The House provision had arranged for negotiations looking to the abandonment of the Indian bill, but not prohibiting the settlement of the lands meanwhile by raiders, and the Senate proceeded from the position.

Consideration of the river and harbor bill was resumed. Mr. Morrill opposed the bill.

Mr. Hoar favored the bill as possibly the best that could now be got.

A message from the House announced disagreement on the general deficiency bill.

The Senate insisted on its amendments and the Chair appointed a committee of conference.

A message from the House announced like disagreement on the fortification bill. The Senate insisted on its amendment and Messrs. Dawes, Plumb and Cockerell were appointed a committee of conference.

Mr. Allison, from the conference committee for the sundry civil bill, submitted a report showing that all the amendments of the Senate relating to public buildings, with only minor exceptions, were disagreed to by the House. There was also disagreement to the Mexico boundry survey and all propositions looking to the sale of public property. Most of the other matters in dispute he said had been adjusted.

The Senate insisted on the amendments and Messrs. Allison, Hale and Beck were appointed a conference committee.

Mr. Frye moved to lay the pending amendment, to increase the amount from 5 to 10,000,000 on the table.

The motion disagreed.

Pending debate the Senate then passed at once the House bill provding for adoption by American ships of the "international regulations for preventing collisions at sea." The bill was read the third time and passed.

HOUSE.

There were hardly a dozen members in the hall when the session was resumed at 9 o'clock.

The sundry civil bill had in the meantime come over from the Senate, heavily loaded with amendments.

Mr. Randall asked unanimous consent that this bill be taken up and the Senate amendments nonconcurred in and sent to a conference committee, but objection came from Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, and there was a call of the House, which showed only 45 members.

Mr. Randall's motion was then renewed and agreed to.

After various ineffectual attempts to have the bills taken up by unanimous consent, and it being plainly impossible to have any public business transacted, the House at 10 o'clock adjourned until 11.

When the House reconvened at 11 o'clock, the Speaker announced that owing to the continued session of the House from 11 yesterday morning to almost 4 this morning, the journal was not prepared, and its reading was temporarily dispensed with.

Mr. Valentine, of Nebraska, immediately moved that the House take a recess until 10 o'clock tonight, his object being to prevent the consideration of the contested election case of Fredericks vs. Wilson, of Iowa. The Republicans refrained from voting on the motion for a recess, and left the House without a quorum. No attempt was made to transact any business until Mr. Townshend of Illinois, submitted the report of the conference committee on the post office bill, announcing continued disagreement.

Pending debate the resignation of G. H. Craig, Representative from the Fourth Alabama District, was presented.

Debate on the ocean mail transportation clause continued, Mr. Horr of Michigan, speaking strongly in favor of the proposition.

The House concurred in the Senate amendment authorizing the Postmaster General to lease premises for third class offices.

Mr. Horr of Michigan, moved that the House concur in the Senate amendment relative to ocean mail transportation. Lost, 128 to 132.

The House then insisted on its disagreement to the amendment, and a further conference was ordered.

Mr. Ellis submitted the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill.

The amendment to the amendment striking out the clause relative to the claims against Indian tribes was concurred in, 111 to 54. The other amendments were disagreed to, and a further conference ordered.

Mr. Hancock submitted the conference report on the pension appropriation bill, and it was adopted. The House receded from its disagreement to all the Senate amendments, and the bill as finally agreed to appropriates $60.00 ,0 0.

The House then took a recess until 7.30.

Evening Session.

Upon reconvening, numerous motions to take a recess were made to again prevent consideration of election cases, and the point of no quorum was raised.

Mr. Robinson of New York, made an appeal as the "last words he would ever say in Washington," asking the House to make a donation of any amount to Mrs. Meikleham, granddaughter of Jefferson, and requested unanimous consent for the passage of the bill making an appropriation for that purpose.

Mr. Hammond of Georgia objected.

At 10.30 the deficiency appropriation bill was received from the Senate. The Senate amendments were non-concurred in, and Messrs. Burnes, Randall and Long were appointed conferees.

Time dragged along very slowly, the monotonous voice of the clerk enunciating the names of members being only varied by members themselves passing lazily between the tellers as the question of "no quorum" was raised on various dilatory motions.

The fun of the evening was confined to the ways and means committee room, where Representative Blackburn was celebrating his last night in the House by treating his particular friends to a musical party, the instrumental portion of which was furnished by a party of Lexington colored men.

At 13.30, the conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was submitted and agreed to.

Mr. Lewis of Louisiana, rising to a question of privilege, called attention to the fact that on the 12th of February the Senate amendments to the bill to prevent unlawful occupancy of public lands, had been concurred in upon the statement of Mr. Payson of Illinois, and the amendment met with the unanimous approval of the committee on public lands. He had since learned that the bill had not been referred to the committee and the amendment had never been recommended by it.

At 1 o'clock, Mr. Reed of Maine called attention to the fact that there were two conference reports in the House, and he asked that they be presented.

Mr. Townshend then presented the conference report on the post office appropriation bill. The report announced continued disagreement, the point of difficulty still being the clause providing for ocean mail transportation.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4—1.45 a. m.

The prospect at present is that the House will remain in session till early in the morning. It is now discussing the conference report on the post office appropriation bill, and it is the private opinion of many members that should the House insist on disagreement to the Senate amendment relative to the ocean mail service, that an extra session is unavoidable.

CITY REPORTS.

Civil Engineer's Report.

Following is an abstract of the report of Wm. A. Goodwin, City Civil Engineer, for the year ending February 28, 1885.

Under the head of street lines and grades, it is stated that street lines for building purposes have been given in 67 instances, and grades in 89.

Under the head of surveys, plans, etc., the work done in that department is given in detail.

On the Eastern Promenade fifty elm trees have been planted, in a row, on the curb line of the proposed westerly sidewalk, from Turner street northerly.

The names of the sewers built the past year, with description and expense, respectively, are given.

The sewer channels at the outfalls in Back Bay have been faithfully cleaned and cared for from April 25 to Nov. 25, at an expense of $297.

RECAPITULATION OF EXPENSE.

New sewers	$2,228.51
Sewers extended	306.24
Repairs of old sewers, clearing and flushing	1,501.78
Culverts, new, rebuilt and repaired	2,278.72
Total	$6,315.25
Appropriation	$5,900.00
Excess of expenditures over appropriation	415.25

BACK BAY SEWER.

Before entering upon the details of the proposed intercepting sewer for the Back Bay district, I desire to state that on the occasion of my appearance before the City Council, assembled in joint convention, to take action on the report of the committee on Back Bay nuisance. I was asked to be present, but had no notice that I would be called on to propose a scheme of sewerage. It was known to some—I know not how long—members of the Council, that on my plans of the sewerage systems of the city was laid down the route of an intercepting sewer through and below Kennebec street, and to no one of these members had I ever obtrusively offered this scheme, or in any way plead for its superiority over any other.

While conversant with the method of the high level sewer discharging by gravity alone at or above high water mark, associated with the low level delivered by combined gravity and pumping, I had not thought of that method as necessarily applicable to the Back Bay system, nor had I thought that for many years to come it would apply to any of our needs for improved sewerage, with which go always to my mind, the absolute necessities of many other departments of municipal labor and responsibility. We are a small and constantly growing city, and it has seemed to me that the addition of a pumping station to our municipal machinery should be avoided for as long a time as possible.

When I was called before the above named convention, I had been saved the folly of preparing plans and estimates for a work which had been entrusted to the sole consideration of a committee constituted by the City Council, in which committee I had no place, and so I had but brief account to give of the scheme which I had previously projected, further than to describe the route of the sewer, and to state that the sewage proper of a possible population of 30,000 on that slope would amount to less than 3½ cubic feet per second, allowing to each person 75 gallons, or 10 cubic feet of water per day,

I remember saying that considerations of political economy should come into this question, meaning, and saying in part, that the city should do that which is best in the case, everything else being equal; in other words, that, with full consideration of our financial ability, nothing should be done for sewerage which would leave other important interests unequal in the balance. The route as proposed was not unknown or strange to any member of the Council, and by unanimous vote was adopted with an order for the preparation of plans and estimates for the work. It has since been objected outside of the Council that I presented neither plan nor profile of the work nor estimate of its cost. If I were to enter into argument on this point, I could reply that no plan or profile of any other route was laid before the convention, nor any estimate based on a thorough study of the route, and that my reasons as above stated ought to be sufficient for my withholding of the same.

Plans, general and special, of the proposed sewer and a profile of the route, together with estimated cost of the whole work, and for such part of it as may properly be postponed until the second year of its prosecution, are herewith submitted.

The general description of the proposed location is as follows: Beginning at and intercepting the mill pond sewer at a point 74.3 feet distant westerly from the bulkhead of the former tidemill foundation; thence through the filled millpond and across Green street to Kennebec street and through this street to the point of departure of Somerset street therefrom, a distance of 1,115.7 feet from point of beginning; thence through the centre of Somerset street 1,848.5 feet to the westerly line of Wilmot street, and through the newly laid out extension of Fox street 199.35 feet to a point 76.5 feet westerly from the westerly line of Franklin street; thence through the centre of Fox street 913.15 feet to a point in centre of Smith street produced; thence through the newly laid out street over the flats from that point to the Marginal Way, a distance of 2,683.5 feet; thence across the Marginal Way and over the flats 732.5 feet to a point 10 feet distant westerly from the abutment of Tukey's bridge; thence parallel with that abutment 22 feet to mean low water mark, and thence 28 feet farther on the same line to the channel, having a depth of 7 feet at mean low water, from which point the water deepens rapidly to a depth of 18 feet, giving a total length of 7,542.7 feet.

The elevation of the water line of the sewer at point of beginning being that of the Mill Pond sewer, is 4.18 feet above mean low water, hereinafter termed M. L. W. Here the sewer is designed to be 5 feet high, and its crown will be at elevation 9.18 or about 1 inch above mean high water (M. H. W.) at elevation 9.1. The water line at outfall is to be at low water mark, and the structural inclination of the bed will be 1 in 1804.5. The sewer 6 feet high at outfall, will have its crown submerged at M. H. W. to the depth of 3.1 feet.

The sewerage area of this slope of the city, from and including Green street to Tukey's bridge is 247 acres, a population of 12,000 thereon, giving about 50 to the acre, using about 75 gallons or 10 cubic feet of water per day would use 120,000 cubic feet in a day. If one half of this be used in 8 hours, the day must be figured at 16 hours, and the quantity will be 2.08 cubic feet per second, being 0.505 cubic feet per acre per minute, and the whole dry weather flow will be 5.84 cubic feet per second.

The Mill pond sewer brings a volume of 2.86 cubic feet per second, dry weather flow as guaged at 11 o'clock a. m., which may be taken as its maximum flow. A part of the tide and storm water above this amount is designed to pour through an overflow to the present outfall. A proposed sewer in the northerly creek hereinafter named would eventually bring 0.9 per cent. cubic feet per second, giving a volume of 3.76 cubic feet per second above Green street. The sewer must receive the whole flow of Green street sewer, being 6.28 cubic feet per second at the end of an hour's rainfall, of ⅓ inch per hour. This added to the above amount gives 10.04 cubic feet at Green street intersecion. The crown of the proposed sewer at Green street will be at elevation 9.15, 0.05 above M. H. W., and an overflow if put in here would discharge only at about high water.

The sewer from the mill pond sewer to Green street 177.7 feet is designed to be of brick 2x5 oval, end area 9.14 feet; from Green to Preble street, brick 3′ 4″x5 oviform, area 12.28; the sewers from Brattle, Parris and Hanover streets could pass entirely over the proposed sewer, and but little more than their dry weather flow is designed to be received amounting to 0.22 cubic feet per second. This section extends to the end of the fill on Somerset street just west of the Preble street sewer, a distance of 1155 feet. The volume here to be cared for, including the whole of the Green street flow, will be 10.26 cubic feet per second. The section from this point through Somerset street to the filled land east of Pearl street 1453 feet to be 3′ 4″x5′ rectangular, area 16.66, to be of two thicknesses of 3 inch planks laid to break joints and supported by piles girded in the manner of the section of the Commercial street sewer under Long wharf. The combined dry weather flow of the sewers of this section is 0.63 cubic feet per second, and the volume at the end of the section will be 10.89 cubic feet per second. From this point to the end of the filled land on Fox street east of Franklin street, 622 feet, is designed a circular brick sewer of 5 feet diameter having an area of 1963 feet. In this section the first sewer encountered is that of Wilmot street which strikes the sewer at about its center, and must be wholly received. Under the above named rainfall it will bring 4.13 cubic feet per second, making the volume at this point 15.02 cubic feet per second. Next below comes the Franklin street sewer, one-half the diameter of which lies above the crown of the proposed sewer, and one half its entire flow, being 1.91, must be received, giving a volume of 16.93 cubic feet per second below Franklin street. From the end of this brick section a plank sewer 5x5 feet, rectangular, area 25, of the above described construction, to extend 659 feet to a point opposite the foot of Smith street, taking the combined dry weather flow of Boyd and Mayo streets, 0.12 cubic feet per second, and making here a volume of 17.05 cubic feet. From this point to out-fall 3466 feet, the sewer to be of piles and plank, 5x6 feet, taking the dry weather flow of Smith, Anderson and Fox streets, 0.58 cubic feet per second, giving a present flow of 17.63 cubic feet per second. Of this the storm flow is 11.98, dry weather flow 5.65, leaving the flow from possible sewers on 22 acres north of Fox street, 0.19 cubic feet per second, amounting to the 5.84 cubic feet above assumed as a base of estimate.

For a length of 1800 feet from the point of outfall a 5x6 sluice-way will be required to admit and discharge the water of the tide to and from the cove of 16½ acres area between the sewer in Fox street and the shore, in which water to the depth of four feet would otherwise be impounded.

The mean rise of the tide is 9.1 feet, length of sewer 7542.7 feet, fall in that distance 4.18 feet, giving a structural inclination of 0.0554 plus or 21-32 inch per 100 feet, being 1 foot in 1804.5 feet. This of course is good for head only at certain stages of the tide, as hereinafter indicated, but in the Mill Pond sewer, of which the proposed sewer is only an extension, lie the possibilities of accumulation of any frictional head and the resultant hydraulic slope required for continual discharge. The Mill Pond sewer is entirely covered by earth and has an area of 12 feet, being of six inch plank, supported by piles for a part of its length and then by timber framing to a point 736 feet above its connection with the proposed sewer, at which point point its crown is 4 feet above M. H. W. and its bed bed at M. H. W. mark. Its inclination in that distance is 4.92, or at the rate of 1 inch in 149.6 feet. At the head of this section comes in a brick sewer with an area of 6.3 feet, on an inclination of 1 in 35. Add now the length of this section of the Mill Pond sewer at 7542.7, and we have for working at high water a sewer 8278.7 feet long with a crown 4 feet above M. H. W. at head and 3.1 below the same at outfall, receiving at head 2.86 cubic feet of water per second, and at Franklin street 16.93 cubic feet. A head for discharge at flood tide must always be higher at tide level at point of discharge. At the time of high water this head must stand higher than elevation 9.1 and the sewer will then have been working from about the time of half flood under a hydraulic slope quite different from that of a structural inclination. That inclination of 1 in substantially 1800, giving a fall of 4.18 is sufficient for discharge with full outlet. Now to that 4.18 add another 4.18 and the sum 8.36 will not reach the grade of the Mill pond sewer at head which is 9.1, having its crown at 13.1 and a sewer with an inclination of 1 in 35 as a direct affluent. A head of 1 foot above M. H. W. would therefore add 35 feet to sewer for purpose of inquiry, making its lengh 8314 feet with bed at 10.1. The mean tide rises 9.1 feet in 6.25 hours and although its velocity is not constant its average may be properly taken as such for my present purpose, its average rise would be 1 foot in 0.686 hour or 1,456 feet in one hour and would reach the height of sewer bed at head 4.18 feet in 2.86 hours, or 2 hours, 51 minutes, 36 seconds. The inwards flow would therefore have a velocity in the sewer of 0.73 per second. At the end of 4.12 hours flood the sewer will be full to the crown at outlet and there will be then a depth of 1.82 feet at the head running out to nothing in a distance of 272 feet up the Mill pond sewer, the crown of which at that point is four feet above the bed. At the end of 4.12 hours there will have gone past this point and down the sewer 42,419 cubic feet of water. The 5 feet circle at Franklin street may be taken as the average of the system. Its elements are when running full: Area 19.36, perimeter 15.7, hydraulic radius 1.25, structural fall per mile 2.64, giving a velocity of 2,355 feet per second, when free of tide. The volume of sewerage here is 16.93 cubic feet per second, and a constant velocity of 0.862 feet per second will be required for the discharge of this quantity. The inward tide flow being at the rate of 0.73 feet per second, its ratio to 0.862 is as 1 to 1.18, and the outflow should be 1.18 times, 0.862 giving a requisite velocity of 1.02 feet per second, representing a head of 1.17 and a hydraulic slope of .00014085, being 0.741 feet per mile. Working the 5 feet sewer on an inclination of 0.741 feet per mile, the free velocity would be 1.247 feet per second, and by the above ratio of 0.862 to 0.73 it would be reduced to 1.05 per second, agreeing substantially with the above 1.02. The elevation of the head would then stand at 10.27, and this height of tide will not fill any sewer in Lincoln street, with the exception of that in Wilmot street, which it would fill to a point 10 feet beyond the southerly line of Lincoln street. The length of the lateral sewers relatively to the crown of the main sewer has been quite misapprehended. Those of Brattle, Parris, Hanover, Preble, Elm and Chestnut streets could pass entirely over this crown on a grade of 1 in 400 from the elevation of Lincoln street and with the exception of those in Green, Wilmot and Franklin streets above accounted for the entire storm flow may be passed over to the outfalls. It is not as if the struggle which must occur at high water were to be the constant condition of the case. It will go on increasing in practical difficulty in about three hours from half flood until the moment of high water. Upon the turn of the tide relief will be given, to continue during about nine hours, through the whole of the ebb and back to half flood.

Such are the main features of the proposed low level sewer. Of its value as compared with any other scheme I have now no arguments to advance.

Estimated cost of entire work	$91,460.00
Balance on hand, substantially	11,000.00
Balance required	$80,460.00

At the distance of 5643 feet from the sewer head is a deep pool at low water having direct communication with the channel of the Bay through one of the thirty feet waterways of the Marginal Way. Here the work of the first season may properly close and a training wall of sheet piling, included in the above estimate, would direct the flow of the sewer so that it would not reach the inner flats until covered by the tide. If the whole work should be thus divided, the estimate for this section would be 55,200. Deduct balance as above $11,000. Additional appropriation required, $44,200.

Under the appropriation of $15,000 made during the season for beginning the work, the sum of $3,852.52 was expended in extending the laterals, in putting in ventilating shafts near high water mark and in driving the requisite piles on the Somerset street flats. It is understood that the unexpended balance of $11,147.47 is available for the next year's work. This in the above estimate has been taken as $11,000.

The old Mill pond had at its head a long creek on the northerly side of Deering's Oaks, into which fell a natural water course with two branches, the northerly of which came in from the valley north of Portland street, crossing that street near Hart's tannery. The other had its source in and around the horse pond on the southerly side of Congress street, the two coming together between Portland and Congress streets, the united stream flowing through the Almshouse valley into the above named northerly creek. In course of time these branches had been obstructed by a defect in the culvert under the railroad embankment, and swampy expansions had occurred along the streams which above that embankment had become stagnant.

In the year 1871 a committee of the City Council was appointed "for the reclamation of swamp lands in Ward Seven," referring to the area now under consideration. The result, after careful instrumental observation, was the construction of a brick drain to lead the northerly branch through Portland street from the above named culvert to the head of the creek through the Almshouse valley, the laying of pipe drain from the main drain to the southerly branch, the clearing of obstructions from the natural channels, the mowing of flags and other coarse herbage, and the subsequent filling by their owners of the areas of swamp, to the extent not only of abatement of nuisance, but of making pasturage of the greater part of the lowest of the lands. Soon afterwards the city overseers of the poor took in hand the swamp parts of the Alms house valley, enclosing the main stream with stone or stone lined walls, and reclaiming foul areas of swamp, including the city piggery, and making tillage land of what had been as foul as stagnant water and a tainted stream on alluvial soil can produce. But little more of such filling is required to convert every part of this low level area into tillage land safe from overflow.

The following elevations will show the conditions of daily drainage of these lands on the lines of their present water courses. The head of the brick sewer through Portland street, from Hart's tannery, is eleven feet above mean low water; culvert on Congress street, near horse pond, 12.8; head of drain through Alms house valley, 9.1; culvert at Grove street, 7.6. From this point a sewer to the Mill Pond sewer at elevation, 495, being 115 feet above the head of the intercepting sewer, would have a fall of 2.65 feet in a distance of 1960 feet, or 1 in about 766. The grade of the Mill Pond sewer was laid thus low at this point for the purpose of receiving a sewer through the northerly creek. This, though not now a part of the proposed sewer, may at some time come into it, and the provision has been above indicated for the reception of 0.9 cubic feet per second of its drainage.

All the area west of St. John street above the contour of 18 feet above mean low water may be drained to Fore river at not inordinate expense.

In conclusion I would respectfully reiterate the clauses of my reports for the several years past on the subject of a more careful attention to the cleanliness of the shore of Back Cove, particularly if there should be any choice to those relating to the cleaning of privy vaults, I for one am quite ready to suggest and talk less on the subject and do more.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. A. GOODWIN,
City Civil Engineer.

Superintendent of Schools' Report.

The increase over last year in the number of pupils has necessitated the employment of a few more teachers. This, with the increased pay given to young teachers, has caused the salary bills to somewhat exceed the appropriation. An account of the particular schools shows them to be in a prosperous condition. The buildings have been kept by the superintendent of school buildings in thoroughly good repair, and one of them, the Casco street primary No. 4, has been enlarged by the addition of three rooms, and improved throughout. As a primary school house of eight rooms it is a model of convenience and safety. The School street school house is mentioned as deserving immediate attention, it being in an unfit condition and in an unfit place for school use. There is immediate need of more room on Munjoy Hill, and to meet this it is recommended to fit up the two unfinished rooms in the Shailer school house. The great need of steam heat in the Centre street school house is mentioned. The lack of proper ventilation in the High School building and the fact that nearly 1000 young persons are exposed to causes that lead to loss of energy and health, is plainly set forth. The lack of schooling for some dozen children belonging to this city, on Crotch Island, is again brought to the attention of the City Council, and the recommendation made that we unite with the town of Cumberland in providing a suitable school house and school for all the children on the island belonging to the two municipalities. This course will diminish the expense to both towns and result in a much better school.

The work of the Practice Class in training young teachers for our schools is approved, and the names of the graduates for the year given.

The Portland School for the Deaf has a corps of five efficient teachers. There are forty pupils in attendance making excellent progress.

School Work—The schools have enjoyed a year of profitable work. Defects have been candidly considered by the authorities, and the many important questions under discussion elsewhere, have received careful attention.

Unreasonable punishments in our schools are rare, and the general order in them is excellent. In most of them there is little other than healthy moral restraint observable. It is the right of the evil disposed to be kept under proper restraint, kindly if we can, forcibly if we must. It is certainly the right of the well disposed not to be tempted, or unreasonably annoyed by unrestrained wickedness. The use of corporal punishment is reduced to a minimum.

Course of Study—The course of study in the primary and grammar schools has been nearly the same as the year before. Relief in some of the less important branches has been granted, while in the fundamental studies more work than usual has been done.

Besides some other important changes in the course of study in the High School, it is brought to notice that the committee on instruction in that school has procured in the course of the year for the benefit of the school, and without expense, valuable hygienic lectures on important topics from several of our eminent physicians.

Branches of Study—Reading is taught in accord with the most approved usage. Teachers find it much easier to secure satisfactory spelling in regular lessons than in ordinary written work. Instruction in language is given in all classes, commencing with the lowest, but no technical grammar is studied until the grammar school is reached.

In the study of arithmetic, gain over other years is seen. More attention is given to the rapid and accurate use of numbers in the first four rules. This is found to have a marked effect on the accuracy and rapidity of arithmetical work required of these pupils on promotion to higher classes. The use of a less difficult and exhaustive book on arithmetic than formerly is found favorable to the work.

In geography and history less of details are indulged in. In the former more of map drawing is practiced, using meridians and parallels of latitude as guide lines instead of arbitrary figures. In both these studies written sketches on important topics are often required.

The work done by special teachers in writing and drawing and in singing is favorably spoken of.

Regret is expressed that nothing has really been attempted in "industrial education" further than is done in drawing and other common studies.

Examinations—Only five stated tests have been given this year in the classes of the High and Grammar schools. Care has been exercised while making the written examinations fair tests of the work done, not to allow injurious strain in the preparations for them. To avoid this the tests have been sometimes given when unexpected, and teachers have been directed to treat them as ordinary school work, and to give no prominence to marks upon them. If this course is pursued, and written examinations are no longer used by teachers as "a spur and a lash," they will soon be remanded to their original and proper place,—tests of good teaching, encouragement to faithful school work, and an aid in making promotions.

Recommendations—The following recommendations are respectfully made for consideration:

1—The construction of a suitable school house to take the place of the old house No. 7, located on School street.

2—The finishing of two additional rooms in the Shailer school house.

3—The proper ventilation of the High school house.

4—The introduction of steam heating into the Centre street house.

5—The introduction of manual training into the High school, and to some extent into other schools, if the city is ready to make an appropriation to meet the expenses.

6—To ask for a special appropriation to establish evening schools.

7—To unite with the town of Cumberland in establishing a suitable day school on Crotch Island.

Instruction in needle work is recommended, as is also the establishment of evening schools during the winter months.

"Truants and vagrants and their needs" are considered. An industrial home school on one of the islands would afford them an opportunity to become useful citizens.

Teachers—There are now 140 teachers engaged in the public schools of this city. These teachers are as a body faithful and zealous in their work, and are entitled to the kind estimation in which they are held by intelligent and reasonable parents. Their work is constant and fatiguing, and often beset by grave difficulties. That they cannot always meet the reasonable, not to mention the unreasonable, demands and expectations of parents is to be presumed. That they use all reasonable effort to do so the school authorities can testify.

Bowdoin's Tribute.

Reminiscences of the Poet Longfellow by His Classmates.

The February number of the Bowdoin Orient, called the Longfellow Memorial number, is of special interest. Wishing to express in some degree the love and honor in which Bowdoin holds the memory of her most distinguished son, the editors of the Orient have given up the entire number to contributions from distinguished men, who have desired to pay a fitting tribute to the memory of the beloved poet. Many members of the class of '25—Longfellow's class—have contributed articles, and besides these such distinguished men as Oliver Wendell Holmes, the poet Whittier, Elijah Kellogg, Edward Everett Hale, Julian Hawthorne, George William Curtis and others have sent letters paying high respect and honor to the memory of Bowdoin's famous graduate. These articles are well arranged—a few poems being interspersed, and altogether this number of the Orient is one of great interest, reflecting credit upon the judgment and enterprise of its editors. Below we give some extracts from letters of the alumni and others:

(Ex-Senator Bradbury, Class of '25.)

I knew Longfellow well. He was an admirable specimen of what a college student should be—a model student, always prepared for the recitation room, always respectful to authority, always a gentleman in his deportment, civil, courteous and agreeable.

I was engaged in the practice of law, and, located in the town of Norridgewock, county of Somerset, Me., and my business often called me to visit Boston, Mass., and the most convenient mode of transit was by steamboats, then plying between Hallowell, Me., and Boston, touching at Portland on each return trip to the latter city, to land passengers and freight.

I had taken passage on the steamer, leaving Boston for Maine. It was a delightful summer evening, and the sea air was most refreshing, and I had taken a seat upon the promenade deck, to enjoy the scene, and regale myself with my Havana. I was sitting solitary and alone. Presently it became quite dark, when a gentleman (a stranger) came and took a vacant chair very near to me, and seating himself, he made some pleasant remarks, which at once impressed me that he was of genial, social turn of mind. After a few moments of conversation, in which each participated, he said to me, "Pardon me, my dear sir, I think that I must have met you before now and have known you, as your speech and voice seem to be familiar to me, but I am not able, at this moment, to place you or name you." I gave him my name, when he grasped my hand and with great warmth exclaimed: "How happy I am, my dear Sawtelle, to meet you once more," and adding, "I am Henry Longfellow."

(President Harris, Class of '33.)

When I entered Bowdoin College in 1829, a boy fifteen years old, Henry W. Longfellow was Professor of Modern Languages. He comes before me now as I then saw him, wearing a jaunty cloth cap and a very dark snuff colored frock coat, and his ruddy cheeks and sprightly movements, were too like a boy for my preconceived idea of a college professor. He had recently returned from Europe, where he had been studying in preparation for this professorship, to which he had been elected soon after his graduation in 1825. He had entered on his professorship with great enthusiasm, and he awakened great enthusiasm in the students. He had secured a large place for his department in the curriculum.

(Elijah Kellogg, Class of '40.)

But no one ever thought of taking any such liberties [rude treatment as school boys] with Lonfellow, nor did any such suspicions ever attach to him. Not even John Bartels or John Goddard ever meddle with him. I think John Goddard expressed the common sentiment of the school [attended by Longfellow at Portland] who, when some boy remarked upon Longfellow's retiring habits, exclaimed: "Oh, let him alone. He don't belong to our breed of cats." He had no relish for rude sports, but loved to bathe in a little creek on the border of Deering's oaks, and tramp through the woods at times with a gun; but this was mostly through the influence of others. He loved much better to lie under a tree and read. Small boys think it a great affair to tag after larger ones especially if the larger ones carry a gun and I have often picked up and carried the dead squirrels that he and others used to shoot in the oaks. While he and John Kinsman or Edward Preble would boost me into a tree to shake off acorns for them.

(The Novelist, Julian Hawthorne, Son of Hawthorne the Elder.)

Hawthorne and Longfellow were friends in college and ever afterwards. Each did all he could for the other, in the profession they had chosen. Longfellow called attention to Hawthorne's stories in the North American and Hawthorne gave Longfellow the subject for one of his most famous poems—"Evangeline." The little poem Longfellow wrote after Hawthorne's death is not only one of the most beautiful of his minor productions, but one of the tenderest tributes ever made to Hawthorne's genius and personality. The literary history of no other country can offer a more engaging instance of sincere and hearty affection of two great writers for each other: and happy is Bowdoin among Alma Maters in having nursed the beginning of such a friendship.

A professor at Vassar college doesn't seem to appreciate the advertising the newspaper paragraphers give the institution. These short articles about the gum chewing propensities of the dear girls he thinks are a great injury to the college. We oppose the gentleman, and present the skating rink as a living argument for our side of the question. There is no institution in the world that receives so much abuse, none that has so much fun thrown at it as the skating rink. And yet there is no institution in the world in such a flourishing condition

THE PRESS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 4.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or preserve communications that are not used.

FOR MAYOR,
JOHN H. FOGG.

Boss Manning of the New York Democratic machine will undoubtedly see to it that the civil service reform of the Cleveland administration doesn't become too exuberant.

The Wisconsin State Journal of Madison has exclusive information that the steamer Faraday has finished laying the ocean cable between Waterville, Maine, and Havre, France. The State Journal should keep a geography.

The Congress whose life expires to-day will pass into the history as the do nothing Congress. Hardly a single measure of general public benefit has been passed by it, But the measures that it ought to have enacted but did not, make a very formidable and impressive list. Talk, very much of it cheap, has been the order of the day.

Gen. Butler says the place to settle the question of his indebtedness to the government is in the courts and not in the newspapers. He is right. And this annual revival of the story that his accounts as treasurer of the Soldier's Home are short, looks like persecution. If there is a good case against him, why is not a suit brought against him in the courts?

The question involved in the Democratic nomination for mayor of Bangor, seems to have been not the mayoralty so much as the post office. The defeat of ex-Mayor Cummings is interpreted to mean that he cannot get the post office. Cummings is a Mossback, while White, the man nominated, represents the Bass, or as they are facetiously called, the progressive Democracy.

That offspring of the Boston Advertiser, The Evening Record, in commenting upon Professor Everett's remark that "every Massachusetts man has the making of a Mugwump in him," says that it is a good thing that all of of them have not developed their latent possibilities. A whole party of Mugwamps would be too much of a good thing. The Record is evidently not its father's son.

The Argus, speaking of the election in its yesterdays issue said, "Mr. Fogg expressed his opinion of the temperance voters in the most bitter terms last evening." Mr. Fogg did nothing of the kind. He said he regretted extremely that some of his temperance friends, who had known him for so long a time, should have seen fit to stigmatize him as a "rummy." That was the long and short of his bitterness.

The town elections so far as reported indicate that the Democrats have made some slight gains—not so many nor so large, however, as might have reasonably been expected under the circumstances. On the eve of office distributing the Democrats very naturally were anxious to show their zeal in the cause and so it was easy to get out the full Democratic vote. On the other hand the Republicans were apathetic and failed to poll their full strength. The Democratic gains reported indicate no change of political sentiment among the voters; they simply show that the Democrats were more enthusiastic this year than the Republicans.

The Republicans of Ward 3 settled their differences yesterday and elected their candidates for alderman and councilmen. This places the control of both branches of the city council in the hands of the Republicans and effectually closes one of the doors through which the Hon. John W. Deering hoped to enter the mayor's office. The people will shut the other one at the next election. The Hon. Mr. Deering will not be obliged to resign the mayorship to accept the postmastership. If the Republicans of Ward 1 do their duty as well to-day as the Republicans of Ward 3 did yesterday the Republican representation in the council will be increased by three.

There appears to be substantial ground for believing that the attitude of a numerous wing of the Democratic party towards President-elect Cleveland is one of passive hostility which is likely to become active soon after his inauguration. Correspondents report a very ugly feeling among the hungry and thirsty who have gathered in Washington, engendered by the danger which becomes more and more threatening that they are not to be filled, not right away at any rate. Cleveland's silver letter, too, has stirred up much antagonism and Mr. Hendricks is said to have been industriously sewing tares for a week past. There is little doubt that Republicans will look upon the inauguration ceremonies to-day with much more complacency than a great many Democrats. The men in Washington most blest to-day are the men who expect nothing, for they shall not be disappointed.

The Chicago News, which took a hand in the investigation which convicted Mackin, has started a crusade against the gambling houses in the city. It declares that there are 15 of these places, perfectly open to anyone who wants to find them, under the protection of Boss McDonald and the city police and that McDonald has a partnership interest in eight of them. The News gives the numbers of most of the hells, including one in McDonald's "store" building, which is a head-quarters for many of the "crooks," politicians and detectives in the city, and estimates McDonald's income for protecting the dens from the police at from $75,000 to $125,000 a year. The more luxurious gambling houses have declined for the last couple of years, but there has been a rapid increase in those drawing their custom from the poorer classes. In one of these houses a reporter reckoned that not more than one man in ten wore an overcoat. Most were risking their last cent, and not more than one in twenty of them won.

Though the Gladstone ministry was sustained its majority was so small that it fears that it cannot long maintain its grip. While some of the members are in favor of sticking as long as possible, others counsel immediate resignation, while a third faction advocates a dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the people immediately after the passage of the redistribution act. The general sentiment in England seems to be that the last course will be adopted. Concerning the result of an appeal to the people at the present juncture nobody can make a very safe prediction. No one seems to know what the effect of the increase in the number of electors under the franchise bill, will be, whether to augment the Liberal or Conservative vote. In the cities and large towns undoubtedly the newly enfranchised voters will affiliate with the Liberals, but the doubtful quantity is the agricultural laborers, and concerning their political tendencies there seems to be no trustwothy information.

The Cabinet.

President Cleveland's cabinet as at present made up embraces three members from the South—Bayard, Lamar and Garland,—two from New York—Manning and Whitney—one from New England—Endicott—and one from the West—Vilas. There is a good deal of kicking over what a large part of the Democracy consider an excess of honors awarded to New York and it is by no means improbable that sufficient pressure may be brought to bear upon Cleveland to compel him to drop Mr. Whitney at the last moment and look elsewhere for a Secretary of the Navy. Endicott is too mugwumpish to suit a great many Democrats but they will probably have to swallow him. There is some opposition to Vilas because he is little known and because the claims of a good many Democratic war horses were passed by when the West was being searched for cabinet timber. The friends of Joe McDonald and the "Old Roman" are not happy and Mr. Hendricks is said to be considerably chagrined that no more attention was paid to his advice.

As a rule Mr. Cleveland's cabinet is made up of as good material as the Democratic party affords. Bayard is the foremost of the Democratic Senators and one of the few Democrats who can rightly lay claim to statesmanship. While not a brilliant man, he is conservative and safe, and as progressive as a Democrat can be. His administration of the affairs of the State department will undoubtedly be dignified and discreet. Garland is the most brilliant Democratic lawyer in the Senate, perhaps the most brilliant Democrat in every respect which that body contains. It is greatly to his credit that when his name was first mentioned it excited vigorous opposition on the part of the Bourbons, who complained that he was not enough of a strict constructionist. Whitney is able, but he has entangling alliances with the Paynes of Ohio and the Standard Oil Company. Vilas is little known, but what little is known of him is to his credit. Lamar is perhaps as moderate a representative of the sentiment of the extreme South as could be had. Endicott is a good representative of the more reputable portion of the Democracy of Massachusetts. The only positively bad selection is that of Manning of New York, for Secretary of the Treasury. He is a machine politician, who probably has little patience with civil service reform notions and firmly believes in the Jacksonian principle of distributing the offices. His selection was made, doubtless, for purely personal reasons. Coming from New York his ideas of finance, as far as they go, are likely to be sound. But it is very doubtful if he is a man of sufficient knowledge or ability to fill what is really the most important position in the Cabinet. He may turn out better than seems probable, but it looks like a hazardous experiment to put him into the Treasury department.

Current Comment.

DEMOCRATIC PROBATIONERS.

(Boston Globe.)

The Transcript and Advertiser, they are probationers in the Democratic church, and it becomes expedient sometimes for the genuine deacons, like the Globe, to correct their backslidings; but it was not necessary to kick them out. They are very quiet, harmless converts, except occasionally when they assume to expound new doctrines.

TYPICAL BOURBONS.

(Petersburg Index-Appeal.)

There are in Virginia to-day men who look upon the three-quarters of a million of negroes within the state's limits—negroes kept in ignorance through no fault or failure of their own, but through bondage imposed by another race—and say, in effect, that these negroes shall not have opportunities for advancement. We do not say or believe this proscriptive and illiberal class of citizens is large, but it is powerful at this time.

A CHANGE THAT WOULD BE FOR THE WORSE.

(Portland Advertiser.)

Mr. Redman's name has been mentioned in connection with the Swedish mission. What special fitness he has for that post has not been reported, though that is a quality not often considered in making these appointments. In Mr. Thomas's case, however, it was considered, and the appointment was everywhere applauded. Mr. Thomas had lived in Sweden, was acquainted and influential there and spoke the language like a native. Mr. Cleveland should keep Mr. Thomas at Stockholm if he will consent to stay.

JUSTICE TO MR. BLAINE.

(Washington Post.)

A number of Democratic and Independent papers are engaged in the poor business of inventing and circulating rumors to the effect that Mr. Blaine is pale, haggard and wretchedly out of health, but that while in this pitiable condition he is constantly intermeddling in political and congressional matters. Happening to be Mr. Blaine's next door neighbor, we are in a position to know how absurdly incorrect all these stories are. The truth is, he is in excellent health, and is looking better this winter than he has for many years. As to his medling with matters in Congress, it is pretty well known by his friends in Washington that he has not been under the roof of the House or Senate but once since he resigned his seat in the last named body four years ago. The simple truth is, Mr. Blaine has been hard at work all winter on the second volume of his book, and is meddling with no one. He fought a manly and mighty close battle, and when he found he was defeated accepted the result in a manly way. So far as we have heard, he has not spoken a harsh word of any of his opponents since the election but has deported himself with dignity.

George Bancroft, the historian, is said to have been the only person in the audience who paid strict attention throughout to the orations of Mr. Winthrop and Mr. Daniel in the chamber of the House of Representatives on Saturday.

"There's a story handed down in Irish history" that takes the glory of inventing the expression "paint the town red" away from Americans. A man writing to the New York Sun says that when the Irish Kernes under William MacGeoghegan, Lord of Kenil Feacha, in the county of Westmeath, overthrew the English at the battle of Ardnocher, A. D. 1328, slaying 3,500 of the latter, the bardic chronicler tells us that the midnight skies were reddened with "torrents of flame from the highlands east and west" in honor of the victory. The towns and hamlets, too, wherein the kindred of the victors dwelt blazed, or were "painted red."

Reed and Randall.

The Two Most Conspicuous Figures in the House.

[Washington Correspondent of the New York Evening Telegram]

Very few men in the House enjoy its respect, and by that I mean the power to compel it to listen whenever they get on their feet to talk. On the Republican side Reed, of Maine, can always get the attention of his associates. He is a big, fat man, with a jolly round face and an expressible drawl. No man in the House can compare with him as a ready debater. He hates the iron-bound rules of the House, and never misses an opportunity of saying something of a satirical nature about them when he rises to speak He has an almost inexhaustible supply of well stored information on all public questions and is one of the few men in Congress who can get up and make a strong, telling speech on almost any question that is liable to require Congressional action. He fairly bristles with wit and its more pleasant associate, humor. Nothing in the House escapes his attention. While he hates and detests the rules he knows them thoroughly. There is not an intricate parliamentary movement launched on the bosom of the House but Reed knows in an instant just what object it is hoped to attain or defeat. If he favors it, you may be sure to see his supporters rallying to his side, and, like the general in the field of battle, he directs his forces hither and thither until the final vote comes. On the other hand, if he opposes it then look out for trouble. He dashes into the thickest of the fight, brushing aside the pigmies in search for one of the giants of Democracy worthy of his steel. A charge by Reed means the rallying of the Democratic leaders to oppose him. Randall usually comes to the front at once when Reed throws down his gage. Randall is Reed's opposite in many particulars. He is a heavy slow speaker, without the slightest trace of humor, and delivers his sentences with a jerk and twitch as though each word cost him a severe effort. He seldom speaks longer than fifteen minutes, but the House always listens because it knows that his ideas represent the Democracy on most questions. Randall is an astute parliamentarian. He watches each ruling of the chair with intense interest, and if by word or gesture he sees that his party is liable to be drawn astray through ignorance or inadvertence, he is on his feet in an instant with the suggestion that untangles the snarl. Reed and Randall are warm personal friends, but neither can make the slightest movement upon the floor without the watchful eye of his political opponent. Randall is the personification of caution while Reed is a very Rupert of debate. The hotter the fight, the more enjoyment Reed finds in it and the more desperate his onslaught on the foe. Randall's tactics are totally different. He waits, and at the first favorable opportunity his rapier flashes in the air and sheathes itself in the body of his antagonist.

Reed constantly takes chances which Randall, if he were a Republican, would not think of grasping. Reed trusts a great deal to his tremendous fertility of resource, which enables him to win brilliant victories, while Randall is looked up to by the majority of his fellow Democrats as an eminently safe leader, and on account of this reputation they follow him blindly. These two men are the most notable figures in the House, aside from Speaker Carlisle, whose office alone places him in a conspicuous position. Hiscock, of New York, is another man who is respected by the House. He is a handsome man—one of the handsomest in Congress, and attracts attention the moment he begins to speak. Hiscock has a pleasant way of making hard hits at the Democracy and works with Reed whenever that gentleman feels it necessary to administer a drubbing to their opponents.

Cuticura

THE GREAT SKIN CURE.

My wife had a most annoying eruption make its appearance on the fingers of both hands about the first of last March. Supposed it was ivy poison. Several physicians saw it, some diagnosing it as above, others pronouncing it salt rheum. A great many domestic remedies were used, with no effect. The disease steadily grew worse. The prescriptions of three of our very best physicians were tried, with but little better results. The terrible itching was so great as almost to deprive her of sleep. After two months of this suffering she began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. What was the result? The first application of the CUTICURA allayed the itching, and now after four months' daily use of them her hands are sound and well. I doubt not if they had been employed at first a cure would have been effected in a short time.

SCALD HEAD.

F. J. Truesdell, druggist, Conneaut, O., reports a case as follows: The patient's head was almost a solid scab, and the dry scales constantly falling off his head, making his shoulders white in a few hours. He suffered all the torments imaginable with his head, burning and itching and a terrible headache all the time. Took three bottles of RESOLVENT, used two boxes CUTICURA and some CUTICURA SOAP, and was cured. Head is as entirely free from scabs as it was the day he was born. No more itching and burning, and no more headache. It seems almost incredulous that anything could cure so bad a case so quickly. The patient says you do not claim half enough for CUTICURA.

The statements published by the Royal Baking Powder Company as emanating from me and reflecting upon the purity of "Cleveland's Baking Powder" are false. I never knew of such publications until I saw them in print on the fifteenth of this month, January 1885.

I have, on several occasions during the past few years and without the knowledge of the manufacturers, analytically examined cans of Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder purchased by myself in the markets, and I take pleasure in recommending it to public favor as a baking powder that can be relied upon for purity, wholesomeness and strength, as I have never found it to be adulterated with Lime or to be impure in any sense whatever.

THE PRESS.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 4.

Wit and Wisdom.

"Let go my ear," yelled a passenger on a West Side street car yesterday. "I beg your pardon," said the other man. "I thought I had hold of the strap."

Pump, Pump, Pump.

Your heart is the busiest pump in the world, pumping all the time; never stopping until you die. It pumps blood. Every four minutes all the blood in your system passes through your heart. Blood is the vital fluid. Impoverish it and you die. Invigorate it, and you are hearty and joyful. There must be iron in the blood, or you are pale and puny. Brown's Iron Bitters is the most efficient preparation of iron; gentle, powerful and reliable.

The sack is an appropriate coat for a rejected lover.

Quaker Testimony.

Mrs. A. M. Dauphin a Quaker lady of Philadelphia, has done a great deal to make known to ladies there the great value of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as a cure for their troubles and diseases. She writes as follows: "A young lady of this city while bathing some years ago was thrown violently against the life line and the injuries she received resulted in an ovarian tumor which grew and enlarged until death seemed certain. Her physician finally advised her to try Mrs. Pinkham's Compound. She did so and in a short time the tumor was dissolved or caused to slough off, and she in now in perfect health. I also know of many cases where the medicine has been of great value in preventing miscarriage and alleviating the pains and dangers of childbirth. Philadelphia ladies appreciate the worth of this medicine and its great value."

Proctor, the astronomer, is the author of a new work on whist, just published in England. There may not be much profit in such a work, but there must be some "honors."

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES, in Tubercular Troubles of the Lungs. Dr. A. F. JOHNSON, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in Tubercular troubles, with satisfaction, both to patients and myself."

It is now declared that Khartoum fell in October, and the fact that Gen. Wolseley did not find it out until February would seem to show that they have messenger boys in the Soudan.

A CENTURY of progress has not produced a remedy equal to Ely's Cream Balm for Catarrh, Cold in the Head and Hay Fever. It is not a liquid or a snuff, but is perfectly safe and easily applied with the finger. It gives immediate relief and cures the worst cases. Price 50 cents, at druggists. 60 cents by mail. Ely Bros., Owego, N. Y.

"A GOD-SEND is Ely's Cream Balm," writes Mrs. M. A. Jackson, of Portsmouth, N. H., on May 22, 1882. I had catarrh for three years! had tried nearly all remedies but to no purpose. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed quite freely and I thought the sores in it would never heal. Your Balm has cured me. This preparation is not a liquid or a snuff, and is easily applied. Price 50 cents.

ELY'S CREAM BALM is the most effective, convenient and agreeable catarrh remedy I ever used, and I have tried them all.—C. B. Cook, Henning, Lauderdale Co., Tenn.

"Is your master busy?" asked the tailor. "No, but he is out." "But I just saw him at an upper window," "well, I just asked him for some money and he said he was out," "Oh, if that's the case I am out, too."

Do Not be Discouraged.

even if you have tried many remedies for your Kidney disease or Liver complaint without success it is no reason why you should think your disorder incurable. The most intractable cases readily yield to the potent virtues of Kidney-Wort. It is a purely vegetable compound which acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels at the same time and thus cleanses the whole system. Don't wait, but get a package to-day and cure yourself.

A train on the Norwich and Worcester Railroad was stopped by a pedestrian Monday. When the engineer asked: "What is wanted?" he replied, "I wanted to see the keers stop."

Low Prices for Butter.

The New York Tribune in its market report, explained why some butter is sold for such low prices. In speaking of butter it said: "Light colored goods are very hard to dispose of and several lots were thought well sold at 8 to 10 cents." If butter makers would get the top price, they should use the Improved Butter Color, made by Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt. It gives a pure dandelion color and never turns red, or rancid, but tends to improve and preserve the butter.

The socialist's catechism—Question: What is socialism? Answer; Socialism is spending what you have and then wanting half of what some other fellow has.

☞IT IS A WELL KNOWN FACT! In the Diamond Dyes more coloring is given than in any known Dyes, and they give faster and more brilliant colors. 10c. at all druggists. They are a great success. Wells Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.

Wife—"What do you think of my new bonnet, dear?" Husband—"I have but one fault to find with it. The bird is not true to nature." Wife—"Not true to nature? Why not, I should like to know?" Husband—"The bill is all out of proportion to the body."

B. H. Douglass & Sons' Capsicum Cough Drops are manufactured by themselves and are the result of over forty years' experience in compounding cough mixtures.

Notwithstanding the immense amount of advertising other baking compounds receive, there is none better than the old and reliable Congress Yeast Powder, the sale of which is constantly increasing.

MEMORANDA.

Ship John Currier, Blethen, for Liverpool, attempted to go to sea from San Francisco Feb 4, had trouble on the bar. The breakers swept over her fore and aft. All hands were compelled to go up the rigging for safety. Toward morning she had drifted inside the bar. It was seen she was setting in on the south beach and the anchor was let go. This with a scope of 75 fathoms chain held her in safety until the afternoon of the 5th, when a favorable breeze carried her off clear. She lost her anchor and chain, and her stem and forefoot were considerably cut.

Another attempt was made 1st inst by tugs to reach the vessels ashore on Tuckornuck Shoals, but the ice was packed round them so hard that the tugs had to return. A contract has been made with the Boston Towboat Co to save the cargo of logwood of schr H T Townsend and cargo of fustic of schr Lyndon. The vessels ashore there are all bilged and full of water. The Dolly Varden is badly stove and probably will be sold with her cargo.

Sch Cephas Starrett, Pearson, at New York from Havana, reports severe weather on the passage; was North of Hatteras 9 days, lost and split sails.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Brief Jottings.

Fine day yesterday. The mercury indicated 28° at sunrise, 35° at noon, 33° at sunset; wind west.

We have received the Musical Record for March.

At their meeting to be held next Monday evening, the Cadets will probably set a date for their ball.

Mrs. Fogg an aged lady living at the town farm, Gray, was badly burned one day last week by her dress catching fire.

The New Church sociable postponed from last Thursday night will be held in Gilbert's Hall, Thursday evening, March 5.

The Pullman train from the east was delayed about three hours this morning by a freight train off the track near Bangor.

The thief who broke into Senter's jewelry store Monday night secured a few opera glasses and some gold finger rings.

Judge Haskell yesterday adjourned the Supreme Court until Monday next when he will come in and render his decision in the case of Brown vs. Rand.

W. H. Ingraham has been elected president, Dr. A. Brown, treasurer, of the Brigham Journal Bearing Co., with a capital stock of $25,000, and $125 paid in.

The new block, which will be erected by the Harmon heirs, corner of Brown and Congress streets, will be called Beaver Block, as Brown street was formerly known as Beaver street.

Mr. Geo. Young, employed by Howes, Hilton & Harris, severely strained himself while handling flour yesterday. He was taken home in a hack, but hopes to be out again in a few days.

The small fishing schooner Treasure of the Sea is a total wreck off Great Chebeague Island. She was crushed in by ice, thrown on her beam ends and sank. Had mackerel and herring on board.

Lamson the photographer, will have the stand formerly occupied by Conant, and by Nason. Mr. Robinson is to thoroughly remodel the building, corner of Centre and Congress streets, and build a new ell.

A leak occurred yesterday on the pipes of the Water Company either in the city or on the main line, whereby the pressure was suddenly reduced some fifteen pounds. Up to a late hour last evening the trouble had not been located.

We have been shown a fac-simile of the Ulster County Gazette of January 4, 1800. This number was printed with reversed rules on account of the death of Washington. The reproduction is being sold at the New Orleans Exposition.

Officer McDonough arrested a young fellow named Harlow last night for malicious mischief. Harlow, with another party, was taking blinds off windows of residences on Congress street and throwing them into the street. He had taken off eight pair, and was caught in the act of taking one off. His partner escaped.

Advertisements appropriately coming under the classification heads, WANTS, HELP WANTED, SITUATIONS WANTED, FOR SALE, TO LET, BOARD and ROOMS and LOST AND FOUND, not exceeding forty words, will be inserted in the Daily PRESS one week for twenty-five cents, if paid in advance. When payment is not made in advance regular rates will be charged. The large circulation of the PRESS makes it the best medium for these advertisements.

A few Republicans in Portland, because the man whom they desired was not nominated for Mayor, voted for an Independent ticket yesterday and thereby came very near placing the city in the control of the rum element headed by a Mayor who had previously authorized rumsellers to keep open shop in violation of law until ten o'clock in the evening. This may be the way to promote the cause of temperance.—[Boston Journal.]

Personal.

Mr. J. H. Simonton, local editor of the Camden Herald, was in town last week visiting friends.

Arthur Sewall, Esq., of Bath, President of the Maine Central railroad, was at the Falmouth last night.

Mr. A. W. Tompson, well known to travelers as the baggage master at the Boston & Maine railroad station in this city, has resigned his position after a service of twenty years.

Samuel C. Shapleigh, who died in Boston Monday, was for several years in the dry goods business on Middle street in this city, and subsequently in the firm of Little & Shapleigh in the commission business on Exchange street.

Mr. Henry C. Hammond of No. 11 Pleasant street, Charlestown, Mass., died at the Massachusetts General Hospital on Saturday from the effects of injuries received while coasting on a double runner Saturday evening, Feb. 21. The sled came into contact with a lamppost and Mr. Hammond received a compound fracture of the leg and the wrist. Several other persons were injured in the same accident. Mr. Hammond was 44 years old and leaves a widow. He was a native of Eliot, Me., and had been a number of years in the employ of Simmons & Amsden of Faneuil Hall Market.

Cooking Lectures.

Mrs. Lincoln, who will lecture in Reception Hall Friday afternoon and evening, is essentially a common sense teacher. She not only gives the ways, and the best ways, but she has a scientific reason for all steps in cooking, and she makes it a genuine art education, so that it is taken out of the realm of mere drudgery and becomes a pleasure. She teaches the ethics of working; and her instruction is so simple and yet so far reaching that she suits pupils of every class. Unlike most teachers who have preceded her, she teaches from the stand point of the family rather than the professional dinner giver. It is all very well to make all sorts of company dishes, and this Mrs. Lincoln teaches, but it is much better to know how to fill the needs of the every day family table, making food appetising, healthful and attractive. And this is what Mrs. Lincoln does in her teaching. She aims at the practical, and takes the ornamental by the way.

Steamer Movements.

The Toronto of the Dominion Line, cleared for Liverpool yesterday.

The steamer Dominion will load with grain for Liverpool. The Montreal is now due at Halifax.

The Allan Line steamer Peruvian arrived here yesterday evening and reports a pleasant passage of twelve days. She brought seven intermediate and 47 steerage passengers and a cargo of 1200 tons.

THE ELECTION.

Three Republicans Elected in Ward Three.

The City Council of Portland Republican.

The Official Vote for Mayor.

The election for alderman and councilmen in Ward 3 proceeded quietly yesterday, and resulted in a triumph for the straight Republican ticket. The contest for alderman was between Augustus H. Prince, Republican, George F. McQuillan, Democrat, and Samuel F. Pearson, Temperance, Mr. Edwards withdrawing. Mr. Farnsworth, one of the Democratic candidates, withdrew, and Mr. John P. Maher was substituted. The result was a clean sweep for the Republicans. The vote stood as follows:

ALDERMAN.

Whole number of ballots	814
Necessary to a choice	408
Augustus H. Prince had	471
George F. McQuillan	330
Samuel F. Pearson	11
Scattering	2

COUNCILMEN.

Whole number of ballots	807
Necessary for a choice	404
Franklin Simonds had	406
George H. Buxton	450
Milton Higgins	447
John P. Meaher	343
Heratio H. Verrill	392
Woodbury D. Hatch	348
William H. Hobbs	14
Albert B. Hall	12
Joseph A. Kennedy	12

And the Warden declared Augustus H. Prince elected alderman, and Franklin Simonds, George H. Buxton and Milton Higgins councilmen, all Republicans.

The result of this election gives the Republicans four out of seven aldermen, and twelve out of twenty-one councilmen, or sixteen on joint ballot in the next city government, without counting Ward 1, where an election for three councilmen will be held today.

The aldermen met yesterday afternoon and counted the vote for Mayor officially as required by the charter. The count resulted as follows:

THE NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT.

Business Transacted by the Executive Committee Last Night.

The executive committee of the Department of Maine, G. A. R., held their meeting at the Preble House last night. Department Commander James A. Hall occupied the chair. The committee on tents, through Gen. Beal, the chairman, reported that New Hampshire would send enough to quarter their men, and New Jersey would also do the same. He had also made an offer to Schmidt of St. Paul, Minn., for one thousand tents.

The committee on horses and carriages, through Whitman Sawyer, chairman, reported that he could furnish one hundred saddle horses for the day of parade.

Col. C. B. Merrill, W. S. Sawyer and Geo. H. Abbott were chosen to select a committee to petition the city for an appropriation.

Secretary A. M. Sawyer was instructed to procure headquarters for the executive committee immediately.

Comrades Patch and Fellows, of Boston, presented a design of a badge through I. S. Bangs, which they will furnish free to all the delegates to the encampment. Referred to the committee on badges with power.

Daniel R. Dresser was substituted in place of George H. Blake, who will be absent for the next six months.

The chairman, by request of the committee appointed John D. Anderson a committee of one, to present in person an invitation from this committee to President Cleveland, Gen. Sheridan, Admiral Porter, and Gen. U. S. Grant, to be their guests during the encampment. It was also voted to extend an invitation to all the Major Generals of the regular army, and to all the Governors of the New England States.

The following sub-committees were appointed:

Auditing—C. B. Merrill, C. W. Roberts and J. D. Anderson.

Reception of Invited Guests—Governor Robie, Selden Connor, John Marshall Brown, C. P. Mattocks, A. C. Hamlin.

Parade—Whitman S. Sawyer and B. J. Hill.

Music—F. M. Drew, A. H. Prince and George H. Abbott.

Excursions—C. A. Coombs, H. P. Ingalls and D. R. Dresser.

Decorations—A. M. Sawyer and H. P. Ingalls.

Reception of Governor and Mayor—Commander James A. Hall, F. W. Guptill and A. W. Wildes.

Fireworks—G. H. Abbott, C. E. Moulton and C. W. Roberts.

Printing—S. W. Lane, A. M. Sawyer and C. B. Merrill.

Adjourned to March 17th, unless sooner called by the chairman, at the Preble House.

NOTES.

Post 159 of Boston, Mass., will be represented by 100 at the encampment in June.

The new Council of Administration held their first meeting at the Preble House yesterday afternoon. George M. Seiders was appointed Secretary.

Department Commander J. W. Hersey of Massachusetts and Assistant Adjutant General Monroe are here to see about obtaining quarters for this delegation at the National Encampment. They are accompanied by Past Commander Patch.

Mrs. J. Horace Kent of Portsmouth, N. H., president of the New Hampshire Department Women's Relief Corps, was in the city Monday and secured rooms at the Falmouth Hotel for herself and staff next June, on the occasion of the encampment of the Grand Army. Col. Kent, her husband, was with her.

M. F. Brown, Plymouth, A. J. Farrell, Laconia, and N. J. Putney, Franklin, N. H., were in the city yesterday to confer with General Secretary Sawyer in regard to quarters. The Grand Army of New Hampshire are coming 3000 strong, the most of the comrades going into camp, through a few accompanied by their wives, will be quartered at the Islands. Secretary Sawyer assigned the command headquarters at Old City Building. They will parade in battalions.

Society of Christian Endeavor.

The Society of Christian Endeavor, connected with the First Baptist church, observed its second anniversary Monday evening. Every society in the city except one was represented.

After devotional exercises conducted by the president, Mr. Dunn, the reports were listened to. Mr Brunell said the First Baptist Society, beginning with a membership of 46 active and 21 associate members now have 63 active and 29 associate members. The deep religious interest prevailing among the children of the church presents an important field of work for the society and the need of making all committees working committees was referred to.

Mr. Wight of Williston advocated frequent union meetings.

Mr. Staples, Pine street, reported that in the six months of that society's existence the membership had increased from 44 to 57 active and from 14 to 29 associate members.

Mr. J. W. Stevenson gave the present membership of the Second Parish Society as 55 active and 22 associate members. The plan of requiring reports from the committees has been found effective in increasing their activity.

Mr. Jennings, West Congregational church, reported his society to be in a very flourishing condition. The membership has more than doubled since its organization, having 60 active and 5 associate members. Seven of the members united with the church at the last communion.

Mr. Mennish, St. Lawrence street, gave a brief sketch of that society, which now numbers 50 active and 38 associates members. Eighteen have united with the church since the organization of the society.

Remarks by the pastor and others, with singing, followed. The meeting closed with the benediction by Rev. Dr. Small.

The Samaritan Dance.

The promenade concert to be given in aid of the Samaritan Association at City Hall this evening, will be one of the best of that society's popular dances. Chandler's band will furnish the music. Refreshments are solicited.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate in this county have been recorded at the Registry of Deeds:

Windham—E. D. Rannard to N. F. Cannard, land and buildings. $1000.

Sebago—Geo. E. Fitch to A. L. Brackett, land and buildings. $100.

WARD ONE.

The adjourned meeting for election of three councilmen in Ward 1 will occur today. The polls will be open at 10 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. Let every Republican in the ward turn out, and vote and work for the straight party ticket, and success is inevitable.

THE NEW COUNTY BUILDING.

A Hearing to Take Place at Augusta To-day.

The following is the amended text of the bill lately published in the PRESS and presented to the Legislature yesterday:

A bill to authorize the County Commissioners of Cumberland county to erect a county building and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Legislature assembled, as follows:

Sec. 1.—The County Commissioners of Cumberland county and the city of Portland, are hereby authorized to terminate the existing lease and agreement under which said county occupies a part of the City Building in said Portland, on such terms as may be mutually satisfactory. Said city is hereby authorized to pay to said county, such sum of money as may be agreed upon, or in lieu thereof may convey to said county a suitable lot of land in said Portland for a county building, on the execution of a release and conveyance of all said county's rights in said building and the lot on which it stands, which said County Commissioners are hereby authorized to make in the name and behalf of said county.

Sec. 2.—Said County Commissioners are hereby authorized in behalf of said county, to acquire title to a suitable lot of land within the limits of the city of Portland, and to erect a court house thereon, the expense of which, exclusive of the land, shall not exceed $75,000, and said court house when completed shall contain the necessary rooms for the convenience of the several courts as well as all such rooms, vaults and other conveniences as may be required for the various county officers.

The Mayor of Portland and the County Commissioners have been notified that a hearing will take place at Augusta, at 2 p. m. today. The object of the legislation is not to get the Legislature to make an appropriation for the building, but to enable the City of Portland and County of Cumberland to "trade" in regard to a new county building.

Fishes of Casco Bay.

At the meeting of the society of Natural History Monday evening, Prof. Lee of Bowdoin College, in his remarks upon the fishes of Casco Bay, said that the day has passed when new species of animal life can be readily discovered by the ordinary hunter. The United States fish commission by special effort, find many new forms, but the ordinary student has more promise of success in studying embryology and development of fishes. Their geographical distribution is also a fascinating study. As a rule we may say that every species has some locality where it is abundant and we also find a few specimens a long way from home. Knowledge of our fish fauna is not very extensive. Prof. Lee has been collecting the fishes of Casco Bay for the past eight years and he feels it is important to put on record the appearance in our waters of any fish not before noted. He gave the names of forty-nine fishes that he had found, not including the halibut, horse-mackerel and sun-fish. He spoke at length of finding the wry-mouth, which is mentioned in the books as "one of the rarest of fishes." Fifteen specimens only were known up to within a few years, but Prof. Lee remarked: "I can report this as being not uncommon in Casco Bay. It is often left on the flats by the receding tide. The fishermen call it by inappropriate names such as conger eel.

Mention was made of the grubby or small sculpin, a Southern fish and little mentioned by other naturalists as being north of Cape Cod. Prof. Lee had found numbers of them. He then spoke of the barrier, which Cape Cod proves a Southern fish, migrating North but once in Casco Bay, the stranger can pass his summer very pleasantly; what becomes of him when he attempts to return South is unknown.

The tautog is not an uncommon visitor and the king fish is another straggler from the South that occasionally gets safely around Cape Cod. As a general rule, however, the marked change in the temperature of the water prevents the fish migrating.

Prof. Lee also spoke of finding the trout and white perch, (fresh water fishes), alive and thriving in the salt water of Casco Bay.

Gen. James A. Hall.

The new Department Commander of the G. A. R., who visited Portland yesterday—Gen. James A. Hall of Damariscotta, has a brilliant war record as well as considerable fame as a stump speaker. The following is the sketch of his military history given in the Adjutant General's report:

"This skillful and brave officer was mustered into the United States service as First Lieutenant of the Second Maine Battery November 30, 1861, and by his assiduity and remarkable adaptation to his work speedily rose from rank to rank, until he occupies a high position on the rolls of fame and honor. He joined McDowell's army at Belle Plain, Va., April 23, 1862. He was promoted Captain, May 22, 1862, and commanded the battery from that date until July 19, 1863, when he was promoted to the Majority of the Maine Light Artillery. He was afterward promoted to Lieutenant Colonel of the same command Sept. 9, 1864, and subsequently Brigadier General, by brevet, March 7, 1865. In September, 1863 he was ordered to report to Brigadier General Wm. F. Barry, Inspector of Artillery, U. S. A., by order of Major General Halleck commanding the United States army, and by General Barry was assigned to the command of the camp bearing his name and known as the Light Artillery Camp of Instruction, where Major Hill served until the camp was discontinued by reason of the close of the armed rebellion and muster out of all volunteer light artillery. General Hall, however, by order of the Secretary of War, was retained in the service and placed in command of one of the three brigades of general artillery stationed at Camp Bailey, Md., where he served until the artillery was ordered to the forts of the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, when on the 22d of July, 1865, he was mustered out of service. He was reappointed to the army on the 7th of the following August as Colonel and Brevet Brigadier General of volunteers, and assigned to the command of the Second Regiment United States Veteran Volunteers Hancock's corps. No officer from Maine has a more honorable record than Gen. Hall and none can show higher testimonials of military worth. His highest ambition was always to be known as a true soldier, in which he has eminently succeeded. Of such men, unexpectedly raised by circumstances in the hands of an over-ruling Providence, Maine has good reason to be proud."

Gen. Hall was "mustered" as a G. A. R. man in June of 1867, in this city, being one of a few leading military men in the State upon where the "work" was conferred by Gen. Wm. H. Schmidt of Quincy, Ill., who mustered the first post at Bath, June 23, 1867.

Mr. George L. Kimball and the City Marshal.

To the Editor of the Press:

As you have seen fit in this morning's PRESS to criticise me somewhat sharply to say the least, and have also published a card from Marshal Decelle in which he says "the statement reported by yesterday's Sunday Times as made by Mr. Geo. L. Kimball at the Saturday evening meeting referring to me is utterly false," I presume you will allow me space to reply.

So far as your editorial attack upon myself is concerned, I shall not spend time in answering it. I have not seen the Sunday Times, but your quotation from that paper I think is not a correct statement of what I said.

The statement I made in regard to Marshal Decelle was as follows: In an interview I had with him several weeks since in which I urged him to make special efforts to close up a certain liquor shop, after talking with him some time he said he was willing to do what he could to close up the place and immediately added "I have not the least faith in these fellows' claims that they are Republicans." And from his statement I inferred (as it seems to me any one naturally would under the circumstances) that if the Marshal had been satisfied that this rumseller was really a Republican the Marshal would not have been so willing to close him up. Whether I misjudged the Marshal, is another question. I should hope for his sake that I did misjudge him. But that he did use the language I have quoted above, and that it was used by him in the connection in which I have stated, I am willing to make oath to before any tribunal.

I am not in the habit of making statements unless I know they are true. The unfortunate fact in this case is that no one but Mr. Decelle and myself were present when he made the statement to me; but I have been in business in Portland the past twenty years, and among those who know me I am willing to let my statement stand against Mr. Decelle's denial.

GEO. L. KIMBALL.

Portland, March 2d, 1885.

[Mr. Kimball thinks that he wasn't correctly reported by the Sunday Times, and thinks what he really did say is given above. The use of the word thinks indicates that Mr. Kimball is by no means sure that the Sunday Times reported him incorrectly or that he now reports himself correctly. The only substantial difference between what the Sunday Times reports him as saying and what he thinks he said is in the remark attributed to Marshal Decelle. The Sunday Times reports Mr. Kimball and Mr. Kimball reports himself as going to the City Marshal and asking him to close up a certain rumseller, not rumsellers in general. Both agree that the Marshal consented to comply with Mr. Kimball's request. But here agreement ends and disagreement begins. The Sunday Times reports Mr. Kimball as saying that the Marshal added immediately following his consent to raid the rumseller, "for Mr. Kimball, between ourselves I haven't the slightest faith in that man's claim to be a Republican." What Mr. Kimball thinks he said the Marshal immediately added is "I haven't the least faith in these fellows' claims to be Republicans." In this version the "for" is dropped and "that man's claim" is changed to "these fellows' claims." It will be readily seen that the difference between these two reports is a very substantial one. In one case the Marshal gave distinctly as a reason for his willingness to prosecute a rumseller the fact that he did not believe that that rumseller had voted the Republican ticket. In the other case Mr. Kimball simply inferred that this was the reason of his willingness from a general remark that he (the Marshal) did not have any faith in the rumsellers' claim to be Republicans. The fact is that Mr. Kimball misinterpreted the Marshal's meaning. It is utterly absurd to suppose that Mr. Decelle would voluntarily confess that he was a dishonest officer, utterly unmindful of his official oath.]

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

MARGARET MATHER.

Last evening Miss Mather appeared as "Pauline in Bulwer Lytton's "Lady of Lyons," a play more familiar, probably, to the majority of theatre goers than almost any other, if we except "East Lynne." It is with gratification that we are enabled to pronounce her personation decidedly successful. In the act where the haughty belle of Lyons is brought to the humble cottage of the gardener's son, to the last scene where Morier returns to claim his bride, the actress was not only strong, but her strength was gradually culminating until the end. In the cottage scene the graphically depicted the struggle between love and pride, both with Claude and in the interviews with Widow Melnotte, and with Beauseant, and at the end, when love conquers, and as Claude hastens from her to the field of battle, she falls fainting to the floor, the curtain fell amidst the loud plaudits of a justly stirred audience, who enthusiastically called both Pauline and Claude before the curtain. The last act was worthy of the others. To the general pleasing effect of Miss Mather's impersonation of Pauline, her beauty and graceful carriage, and her rich costuming—so necessary to this character—are adjuncts of great importance.

Mr. Paulding's Claude was a pleasant surprise. His enunciations was so clear, his acting so smooth and even, that his impersonation was one of the best we have had here.

Tonight Miss Mather will appear as Lady Macbeth.

THE HAINES FAMILY.

The Haines Family will give a concert tonight at Thatcher Post Hall corner of Elm and Congress street The Family gave a concert a short time ago for the Young Men's Christian Association which proved a very enjoyable entertainment and we would advise a hearty patronage of this concert.

NOTES.

Woolf's operas, "Pounce & Co.," and "A King's Frolic" will be brought out in New York before long.

Herr von Gericke has discharged Leopold Lichtenberg from the Boston Symphony Orchestra. That is bad for the Orchestra.

"The Mischief's to pay now," exclaimed the leader of the orchestra. "I've lost my baton. Can't somebody find me a stick to beat time with." The musicians wondered why he didn't take first violin, but every one discreetly held his peace.—Boston Transcript.

After the concert: Mrs. Amateur—"That last number was delicious. What a beautiful air!" Mrs. Tinsel—"Beautiful air!" For my part, I thought it was extremely oppressive. It was fearfully warm, and there didn't seem to be any ventilation at all."

ON THE ROLLERS.

AT THE BIJOU.

Tonight there will be two bands of music at the Bijou and continuous music for skating will be furnished.

Tomorrow night the Gloucesters will be here and do their best to defeat the Bijous. The Gloucesters have a good lead in the Massachusetts league and the prospect is now that they will wear the medals. They are fine players and are pretty evenly matched with the Bay States, whose playing has been so much admired here.

INAUGURAL ASSEMBLY AT PORTLAND RINK.

Tonight there will be an inaugural skating assembly at Portland Rink. The gentlemen will wear tall hats and the ladies, muslin skating caps. Each skater will be presented with a button-hole bouquet and an American flag.

Tomorrow night will occur the turkey hunt. A turkey will be suspended in the centre of the rink. The contestants will be blindfolded, turned around two or three times; and then started on their hunt for the turkey. The one who reaches it first will be presented with it.

W. H. T.'S, 3; BIJOUS, 1.

In the game at Lewiston last evening, for the Maine championship, between the W. H. T.'s of Lewiston and the Bijous of this city, the W. H. T.'s won by a score of 3 to 1, in nine minutes.

GRANITE CITYS, 3; ALAMEDAS, 0.

The Granite Citys defeated the Alamedas last night at Bath, in three straight goals, for the league championship. It was said to have been a very rough game. This gives the Granite Citys the lead in the championship race.

THE RECORD

The following is the record of the league clubs to date at the end of the third series:

	Played.	Won.	Lost.	Goals Won.	Goals Lost.	Per cent Won.
Gr. Citys..	18	11	7	41	36	.61
Alamedas.	19	11	8	45	37	.58

SUBURBAN NEWS.

Scarboro.

Mr. George Carter, who was recently thrown under a loaded sled, is getting along as well as could be expected. He is attended by Drs. Hall and Smith of Saccarappa, and Dr. Meserve, of Portland, who believe he will survive. He is now enabled to move his toes slightly.

The town of Scarboro and the town of Old Orchard have surveyed a highway between Blue Point road and Old Orchard road a few rods southeast and parallel with the Eastern railroad, and when finished, will shorten the drive between Portland and Old Orchard, about one mile.

Burnham & Morrill have reopened their clam-packing shop in Pine Point.

Smelts are very scarce in Dustan's river at present, and it seems doubtful if many more will be caught there this season.

MARRIAGES.

In Surry, Feb. 21, Henry C. Billington and Miss Clara A. Conary.

In Orland, Feb. 21, Clarence S. Grindle of Bucksport and Miss Valie L. Jordan of Orland.

In Sullivan, Feb. 15, Hinckley Robertson of Bluehill and Miss Hattie Havey of Sullivan.

DEATHS.

In this city, March 3, Mary O'Brion, wife of Daniel O'Brion, aged 45 years.
[Notice of funeral hereafter.]

At Woodfords, March 3, Mrs. Sarah J. Hopkins, aged 76 years 10 months.
[Funeral on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at her late residence.

In North Windham, March 3, of consumption, Augustus, son of Jennie and the late William Jordan, aged 35 years.

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

William Spies, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling tobacco. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now says: "I am entirely well."

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. STANTON, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Made only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.
